Vintage PC YouTuber Lazy Game Reviews/LGR recently posted about the iopener “network appliance” from 1999. It likely is the only computing device to come from the factory with a dedicated key to order pizza!

Learn how to use a PC with a dedicated pizza button? Well the Netpliance i-opener from 1999 has you covered, press it anytime to order pizza online! At least back when it was still an active Internet Appliance that connected to the web via dial-up. But that won't stop us diving into this oddity on LGR!

Editor's Note: I'd either hit it by accident or on purpose too many times.

Stop breadboarding and soldering – start making immediately! Adafruit’s Circuit Playground is jam-packed with LEDs, sensors, buttons, alligator clip pads and more. Build projects with Circuit Playground in a few minutes with the drag-and-drop MakeCode programming site (<https://makecode.adafruit.com/>), learn computer science using the CS

Forums Discoveries class on code.org, jump into CircuitPython (<http://forums.adafruit.com/>) (<https://www.adafruit.com/circuitpython>) to learn Python and hardware together, TinyGO, or even use the Arduino IDE. Circuit Playground Express (<https://www.adafruit.com/product/3333>) is the newest and best Circuit Playground board, with support for CircuitPython, MakeCode, and Arduino. It has a powerful processor, 10 NeoPixels, mini speaker, InfraRed receive and transmit, two buttons, a switch, 14 alligator clip pads, and lots of sensors: capacitive touch, IR proximity, temperature, light, motion and sound. A whole wide world of electronics and coding is waiting for you, and it fits in the palm of your hand.
